

AN INTRODUCTION

SEERSGATE YIELDS IT:

Who grows up wanting to be a prophet? Mostly, no one.

So, what happens? Someone gets the notion, a thought, that if I can be a prophet just as people say they can be a pastor with the right qualifications, maybe it would be no problem. But there is a real problem with that way of thinking. Indeed, no one can become a prophet just by wanting it to happen. Being prophetic doesn't mean that you can claim you are a prophet. It takes more than that. It takes more than getting a vision.

And still, longing and begging for the office make people think they have reached that plan. They believe that getting their leadership to give them a seal of approval in prophetic actions makes them a prophet. They throw around the prophet title as if it is the same as saying they are a Christian, for surely, to them, just having some discernment in their way of thinking would put them on another level, one that makes them APPEAR to be synced with Yahweh.

Name one prophet in Scripture who was loved by the people. Name one prophet in Scripture who told the people that they would get health and wealth by giving into their ministry. You cannot. You may be able to make the people believe you, but Yahweh is never fooled. No one can make Yahweh do anything. Declaring and decreeing will not work with Yahweh. Yahweh does not need us for Him to be able to get anything done around here.

We are lost sinners, saved by grace through faith in King Jesus. It is not by our works that we are saved. All must repent and turn away from sinful living. We cannot say we are on the same level as Yahweh; He is God! We are dirt. Yahweh is faithful, and because of grace, He does not kill us instantly for our irreverent actions, but that does not mean He is not taking notes, observing us, and waiting till the end to reconcile the way we took care of the gifts He gives us. Yahweh must be honored. We must reverence Him. We must put Yahweh first in our daily way of living.

How does any of this tie in with being a prophet? People think they can make themselves a prophet while ignoring or showing irreverence for the One True God. People say that Yahweh said something, yet He did not say it. People want to fit in, so they make up something to feel included. Doesn't anyone have the wisdom to know that when Yahweh brings forward a prophet, He enables them to gain insight from Him that is not given to the general covering in the Church? Doesn't anyone know? Only Yahweh can provide you with prophet traits that enable you to hear and see at another placement, not due to being more special, but so that you will not say such things as "I feel God is saying." You will know.

Yahweh puts a blanket covering over the Church, governed by the Great Holy Spirit, to distribute the gifts as the Great Holy Spirit wills. The Church is not set up to operate as if in the days of old, for Yahweh keeps the entire Church under a covering that limits their ability to hear and see, yielding a veiled view of spiritual dealings. And when Yahweh brings forward someone who can hear and see in spiritual dealings with a little more depth, people cannot believe them. They feel they must be making up what they go through because they do not experience that. It's not that the gifts ended. In these many years under the church era, power is distributed through the Great Holy Spirit. And no one can make Yahweh give them power. That's why declaring and decreeing your desires will not work.

And with this book, a world-level prophet comes forward. Some may expect a world-level prophet to have millions of followers. Yahweh doesn't gauge the level of His message based on who agrees with His message. Yahweh looks at the message given and how the message affects a certain group. The message this servant has concerns the age of the antichrist.

I will speak directly to you. Dear reader, you do not need to understand every work level given. All you are asked to do is seek Yahweh. I already know that this work is very controversial. Yahweh has already told me that both sides will come against me, but this is not to gain pity. This is to say that every true prophet must be able to face rejection.

Most importantly, every real prophet must stand with Yahweh. You must know if Yahweh is saying anything. You must know where you stand with Yahweh in your office placement if you are indeed set apart for this work. Being a prophet is very difficult, not because Yahweh doesn't train you well but because He gives you certain spiritual stripping of self and pride actions. Yahweh takes away those things that harm or hinder your walk with Him. Yahweh comes across as being strict or mean to some, but they don't see how much love He is giving out by how He protects.

Yahweh hates sin and doesn't want His servants wallowing in it. The actions that might be okay to some Christians may not be acceptable to one of Yahweh's servants. It's a call to an office placement requiring a certain holy standing. As a servant, you represent the Kingdom of the One True God. You can make mistakes, but do not pretend you didn't when you did! Be faithful in your words; speak what you really mean.

When you talk with Yahweh, do not treat Him like a genie. Yahweh is the One True God, the Creator of Heaven and Earth. Yahweh is faithful. Yahweh loves you. But Yahweh is holy and powerful and must be put in His rightful place. Remember, you deal with the same God of the Old Testament. And what does He require of us all—prophet or not: clean hands and pure hearts. Amen.
