

YAHWEH ADDRESSES THE ANGRY, WOUNDED PROPHET

October 17, 2021

10:35 p.m. CST

SEERSGATE SAYS:

Prophets of today—most—are under a church house, under a pastor that has trained them in their ways of prophet order. Most church prophets are not under senior prophets who can teach them to walk forward in the character and traits of the office. A prophet must respect the will of the local church house in which the pastor's governing authority takes a leading plan. A prophet in the church may have a spiritual way of allowance and backing from the local pastor to give the word of the Lord. Usually, the pastor is a friend to that prophet, using casual conversations with each other when away from the church.

Can the pastor take correction, judgment, or a stern warning from the prophet, their casual friend, if Yahweh sends a message and wants to restructure the local church's current order? Can a prophet stay faithful to Yahweh, deliver what He says, and keep human friends? Most messages from actual servants will have a correction, pointing out flaws, but with a goal of reconciliation. But can most say Yahweh's plan on pain of rejection? Many people are afraid to tell a friend that there is a sin that needs to be dealt with, much less listen to a prophet say the words are from the Lord.

YAHWEH SPEAKS:

I know people need proof of your work. Keep telling them the way of this work.

SEERSGATE SAYS:

Yes, Yahweh.

How would a prophet under a local church house give Yahweh's plan and not fear losing the pastor as a friend? This order of work is where experiential instructional training comes forward. And a novice prophet is not fully aware of how to follow protocol and when to yield to the local house if there are no training outlines on church protocol when giving a message.

I grew up in a house of pastors. Both my dad and stepdad were pastors, and my mother was a worship leader. I learned of the many different ways of church culture, yet in all of my church attendance, I did not gain a clear understanding of the duties of an office prophet.

YAHWEH SPEAKS:

Did that make you a better prophet, being in the house of pastors? How could it? Yahweh had to bring you a way of seeing what was not in joined culture ways with local church outlets.

SEERSGATE SAYS:

Most of today's prophets or prophetic voices declare and decree what Yahweh did not say. They do not actually hear Yahweh speak word-for-word. Most prophetic speakers would say, "I felt God said this," concerning hearing the word of the Lord, and some would take one word they hear and embellish on what that could mean for this time and age.

When the former president _____ ran for office, Yahweh showed me some of that leader's character flaws, not to have me share them, but to help me see the underlying motive for having that nature in the office. After the election between _____ and the current leader, I watched how the prophets spoke of _____ and how he would win.

And Yahweh told me clearly that He would prefer the lesser evils. I wondered what that would relate to, and Yahweh made it clear that a man who is not teachable cannot govern well or submit to governing authority from any other. And that way of submission would extend from a world leader or a church pastor.

YAHWEH HAS A SHARING:

Yahweh would not pick a person based on what the people see as better. Yahweh goes by heart actions and looks at the heart to see if they would bend under Yahweh's power.

SEERSGATE SAYS:

That is clearly understood, Your plan. Thank You, Yahweh.

The status a prophet holds doesn't matter. And that is what I had to learn under Yahweh's plan. I could not go into a person's spiritual or natural house and tell them what to do. Here is an example: Yahweh would say to tell that person this or that. I would tell that person that Yahweh wants to tell them something, and then they would have a choice as to whether they wanted to hear it. I could not force sharing Yahweh's will. I could not beg that person to bend and accept it.

I had to be willing to share what Yahweh would give and then know that the local house gathering would have the right to stop it or allow what Yahweh wanted me to say. And Yahweh would not hold me accountable if the hearer refused to hear the message. Yahweh would decide what would take way after that attempted delivery. This way of following Yahweh's Kingdom order is to respect the house.

How can Yahweh's plan go forward when the prophets are afraid to share what Yahweh gives? I have dealt with thirty years of novice training, and rarely could I be myself, fully transparent. Yahweh started to give great spiritual treats and would encourage me with personal prophetic words from those with a small enablement to see a portion of what I am given in Yahweh.

I share these notes not to bring glory to me but to help you understand that the ways the prophets are trained today are based on a teacher/pastor format and not on understanding Kingdom protocol and order. And since I have lived in this way of training, Yahweh says that my life examples can enable others to understand that being a prophet is not what they may see on Television. My life examples are not doctrine but to help others understand the office.

I ponder what I write. If people would realize that Yahweh is the God I AM who still speaks today, would there be a revival? Would there be a turning to the One True God? But everyone does not hear Yahweh.

Why share my personal life, how Yahweh demands the harsh ways of servitude? Find me a prophet in Scripture who resembles the “prophetic voices” that stand on many stages. In the old days, the people usually did not love the prophet. Prophets were honored but rarely were they accepted.

Find me a prophet in the Old or New Testament who required the backing of a human clay to say that the message is really from God. What must happen? Yahweh must back His prophets and train them to say His will without fear of a person. And if the people would understand that not only does love stem from Yahweh but also other plans such as judgment and order, there would be an understanding that judgment must come before a gathering event.

YAHWEH IS SPEAKING:

I cannot let My Bride go forward with so much hate and dispute. Most people claim to be Christian, yet they have no real understanding of the nature of how Christians are to walk in. I need to weigh them, judge them, and bring a new order to local houses.

SEERSGATE SHARES MORE:

Yahweh must look at how the people live and gather. Yahweh must look at how the church folks merge secular ways with Kingdom order to beg the people to be in His presence. What must happen? Yahweh must have voices on the earth who are not under the church culture, those who have a Kingdom perspective and are willing to bring forward Yahweh's plan without fear. Look at every major shift in Yahweh's plan. Wasn't there a select few who had to be separated for that new plan? Their mentality could not stem from the plans of the ones who were to be governed or delivered.

You would understand loneliness, pain, and rejection when you cannot prove to anyone that you hear the God of the universe say anything. Why? Parts of the church outlets do not agree that prophets are around today and say that only those mentioned in the Bible can qualify as prophets.

Another mark against me is that I am a woman, and some church streams would say that women cannot speak and lead over men regarding church order. In some other church outlets, claiming that you hear the God of the Bible speak today would automatically brand you as a heretic.

YAHWEH GIVES A QUICK WAY OF UNDERSTANDING KINGDOM RULING:

Seersgate, you may be seen as a heretic, but speak Yahweh's will. Do not cower. But if Yahweh has a work He needs to bring forward, would He not back it? Just as the early church apostles dealt with, weren't they persecuted for telling others about a Kingdom culture that gave a new way to come to Yahweh? The new way to come into Kingdom order overruled the local placed-in rituals and governing authority. King Jesus took on the plan as the Mediator between God and all mankind. And the way We have you live in this Kingdom plan is as a covering over all dispensations given in the time, natural-based, so that Yahweh's Kingdom culture will rule.

SEERSGATE STATES WHERE SHE STANDS:

I stand and say that I am called to the office of a prophet; I hear the God of the Bible speak word-for-word in conversations. I understand that this saying will label me a heretic with most churches, for to say that Yahweh speaks that way is to say that there is new revelation, given as if more Bible Scriptures are written today. Still, prophetic voices are saying God says this or that and are excused in some circles due to their saying that they FELT LED to say something, to give them a clearance when making a prophetic mistake.

See where Yahweh places people like me? Outside of the many groups of the Christian church-ordered structure. Outside is where I can tell His will and not sway to a local house and bend. Yahweh gives me training ways through local and international preachers to glean from, for no one is above being taught anything. And this helps me to learn how to balance within all the streams of the Christian faith, gleaning the needed training while throwing away a cultural house trait that will not determine my eternal living.

Here is another point to note: Yahweh grants spheres of influence and has taught me that there are no major and minor prophets, nor does He give delegated governing just in a natural way, such as what is taught by others. And here is where the person will say that I have a pride and ego plan by stating that a world-level sphere of influence is granted. And that would explain the thirty years of novice training endured. A significant part of that training is given in the book The Altar, a compilation of journal entries and conversations with my God during my wilderness timing.

I plan to make it clear that Yahweh has been faithful, and I cannot imagine the apostle Paul stating that he enjoyed the hardship and the pain dealt with, the suffering for the Gospel. Yes, he loved Yahweh and willingly gave his servitude to Him, yet I cannot fathom that Paul would want to say he had joy in the thorn in his side. Just as Paul suffered, Yahweh told me that I would have a cross of continual rejection. Yahweh wants me to declare a new era, the Age of the Antichrist.

I want to train prophets on all facets of the office as Yahweh leads me. Active prophets, presented by Yahweh, are no longer in the Cave training. They have dealt with various levels of spiritual stripping to gain a well-rounded understanding that only what Yahweh says should be spoken, without personal embellishment to make a person feel good. And those true prophets of Yahweh are presented in their finished form, already given a final impartation from Yahweh for office work.

And here is what I now can see in the churches: prophetic leaders walking around with a prophet title without spiritual licenses or enablement to carry out the office. Some rely on their redemptive and spiritual gifts to share words. The office prophet and one who operates in the gift of prophecy are not the same.

I heard a false prophet tell people things a demon would say and call it prophetic, and the people rejoiced in hearing the false words. And here, the people declare and decree what they have no license to give. True prophets should only state what they hear from Yahweh and give that as the plan to declare on the earth. See how that way of thinking is different than most would do today?

SPIRITUAL TREATS

Let me share some beautiful treats to encourage you to see the other side of the training. Just a few notes are shared. I had a compelling encounter with King Jesus. We were sitting across from each other in a dream, and He touched my hands. I envisioned Him as if He was in front of me, giving a smile of encouragement. And from that dream in Alaska, I received an impartation from His hands to do His work.

I knew Yahweh cared. And Yahweh then told me that He could see everything, hear every thought, and is aware of the inner workings of my body, and not worry. Something that light of a gesture was all I needed since I did not have an active, released mantle.

So many spiritual treats and levels of engagement I dealt with, but that's not what keeps me. I need to hear Yahweh say He is well pleased. And with a prophet's heart, I believe that others will understand why being transparent with Yahweh is the most important plan. When you are angry, state it, and let Yahweh help you. When you don't understand the plan and want to follow Yahweh, talk to Him about it. Let's not pretend to have it all together when in pain or when someone hurts us. Let's heal and be honest when we need to address issues.

The contentment in being a prophet is the winning of souls. My anger and frustration with Yahweh were with how I felt I didn't need thirty years of training to help others. But let us make a point clear: a prophet's calling is not pushed forward until Yahweh prepares the prophet to engage in that level of spiritual warfare.

Yahweh protects His message, and the training is based on being ready to engage in what level of spiritual warfare is attached to the work. This work requires actual Kingdom order from Yahweh's will, pushing His plan into natural outlets to prepare for the return of Christ. I have no proof of this calling and level of work, but that's how my life has been under a thirty-year novice presentation. And that is okay.

I encourage you to stand with Yahweh and not try to defend what He gives you to do. Be obedient and respect the local house you visit or connect to under Kingdom work. As a world-level prophet, I am not granted that plan to sit under a local house due to the purpose brought forward, yet when I enter a local house, I will respect their order and not think I am superior to others. What has Yahweh also given me? A plan to train the Bride of Christ on a world-level plan, to bring forward a union that caters to Kingdom order.
