

I REMEMBER WHEN YAHWEH ZAPPED ME

I remember when Yahweh first “zapped” me. Well, what does that mean for a Great God to come and touch your spirit in a painful detail? Well, here is the story: The Great Way had a will to get my attention. During the wilderness season in Kodiak, Alaska, the Great King had me feel His presence in a truly unexpected way. It was a day of being with the Great King. I was in a mood to take a break and get some rest. The details from the training were wearing on me.

As I was sleeping very well, what woke me was a truly painful shock, as if I had placed that part of my body in a light socket to feel the surging way of being zapped by electricity. God took a woman who is just a fleshly tent with a spirit and moved in close to touch me with His great presence. When He did this, it was as if a finger filled with electricity surging in that detail touched me in one place. And with that “touch,” I woke up and yelled out, “That hurt!” And then, I rubbed that place where the Great King touched me. It was so painful.

Later, as I inquired concerning this moving of His Spirit against me in this potent way, He made me see that His great power and moving of His Great Spirit are not details to take lightly. What would it feel like to endure a full body touch of this powerful surging? “This is what you must deal with,” He told me. So, as I wait for the impartation, I know that what is coming to change me in full detail is truly painful.

But while He gives me different details in training and fieldwork, His Spirit surges against me. Sometimes, the surging of power would hurt, and I would have to rub that area; other spiritual surgings are not as bad. But who would embrace this story without being able to experience it themselves or through asking King Jesus if this is genuinely taking place? Well, come and drink a new story very soon. Take care. Until next time.
